Give me a break— The stress of a rapidly approaching yearbook deadline is enough to frazzle even the most dedicated Panther. Emily Rombom takes a minute to rest her eyes, determined to have her spread ready on time.

New Coke— Her wild side shows through when Emily Church chooses Cherry Coke instead of the more mundane Coca-Cola Classic. In an effort to keep her eyes open, she takes a brisk walk while she imbibes her caffeine saturated beverage.

"You're lucky we're not playing!"— In the Antarctic-like weather Ginger Foster and Nichole Souza stand on the side lines of the powder puff game. Practically freezing to death, they show their dedication to their class. These seniors lost this game, but these two fearless warriors aren't to blame. After all, they left their sideline position once, but that was only to prevent loss of feeling in their toes.
