Blood Work

Hardly noticing the large needle sticking out of Jeff Slater's arm, Jen Lilly tires to strike up a stimulating conversation. Unable to be fooled, Jeff, still keeps his eyes on his arm just waiting for something to go drastically wrong. After finishing this grueling task, Jeff realizes that giving blood was not all that bad, especially since he will save four lives. Good results for a day's work.

Analyze This

The founder of The Progressive Club, Hailey Wojcik, posts a message to enlighten her fellow classmates. Continually trying to spread her knowledge of unjust global issues, Hailey definitely spreads a splash of individualism with in a structured environment.
