Serious concentration on one's academic assignments was apparent in the members of the 1967 Senior Class. In the picture to the right, Ken Baese appears to be completely puzzled as he raises his hand to find the answer to the problem before him.

On the opposite page, seniors at the Valentine Ball are shown in varying moods of relaxation. King Chris takes a moment off from the cares of "royalty" to chat with his date, Cynthia Saxton, and tablemate, Bonita Hallead. Meanwhile, the dance goes on, even though Rita Washburn and John Craig appear to be more interested in exchanging "sweet nothings".
