

Eric J. Simon

Jennifer B. Simon

Scott A. Simon

Stephanie L. Simon

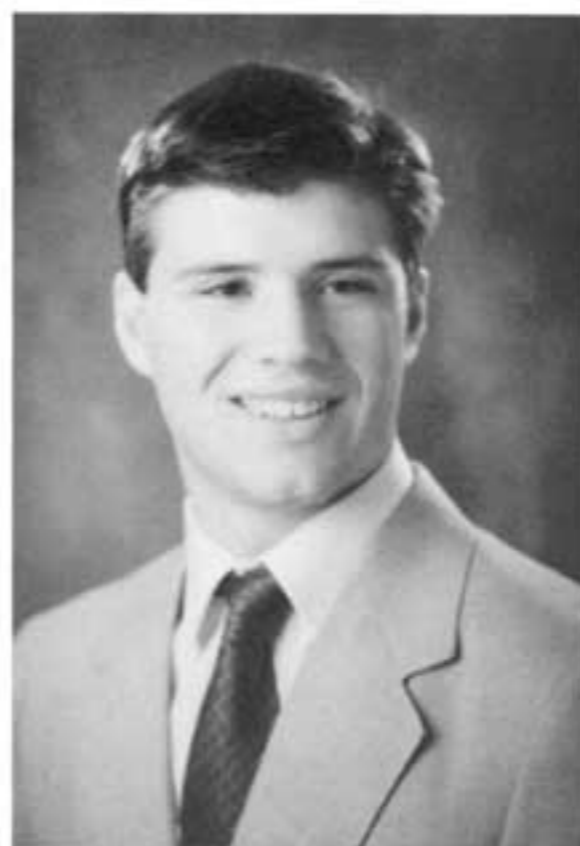

Term Paper Madness

Stress, headaches, and nightmares are just a few of the effects of term papers. Each of us had the "privilege" of writing one, either for Ms. Rehner or Mrs. Henretty.

Many hours were spent in libraries as we gathered as much information as we could. Topics ranged from child development and various types of diseases, to the infamous Ku Klux Klan.

As the deadline came to an end, many of us spent countless hours in the computer room-before school, during our study halls, and after school. Sometimes we stayed as late as 9:00 or 10:00 p.m.

Though many of us dreaded the thought of term papers, it wasn't quite as bad as we anticipated. After all, it was quite the learning experience!

Brent J. Smith

Cami L. Smith

John Klein was just one of the many seniors who spent countless hours in the computer room working on term papers. Seniors often get stressed out about their papers and some have even been known to OD on pizza.

