Setting High Goals

Andy Brockmyre is a very dedicated athlete. The way to achieve and reach higher goals is to strive to the full potential.

Andy Brockmyre is a fine example of one who fulfills his goals. Besides running cross country and track, Andy does a lot of running on his own. In his spare time, he runs miles through the outskirts of town, building up his agility and speed.

Using his time wisely and setting goals, Andy gives himself the self esteem and power he needs to make his achievements big and his goals set to the highest.
