

"I doodle, or do very goofy things with pens and pencils with my nose," said Bob Suchek.

"Try to meditate aloud and if that doesn't work I give up and ask to sit in the corner," said Julie Fleischmann.

"Sleep, throw paper wads, or make fun of the teacher," said Dave Kudwa.

"I dream about how many dinosaurs it would take to fill up Sleepy Hollow Lake," said Molly Cooper.

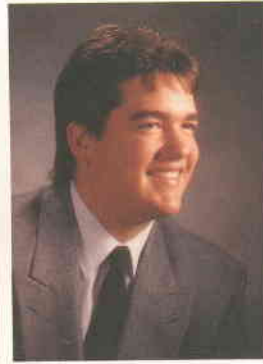

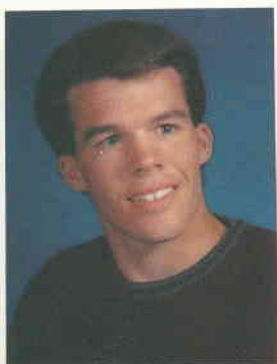

"Eat, sleep, or make fun of people," said Patrick McNamara.

"I ask a lot of questions, so that I won't just sit there and learn nothing," said Vicki Ferris.

In Mr. Wilcox's class, Mike Moon and Pat McNamara learn how the three branches of government work.
