

Ideas Abound For Improving School

By Sharissa Fitzpatrick

Due to new laws, School Improvement is a big topic these days. Many seniors have ideas on what could be improved.

"I would improve our school by including more activities. I think that having assemblies, dances, and games makes school better for students," said Senior Tonia Durbin.

A change in the actual building would please some.

"I would change the colors in the hallways, make them brighter or livelier. Right now I think they're dull and boring," said Senior Gordon Surette.

"I would make our hallways wider for all the people who like to stand and talk before and during school," said Senior Misha Montague.

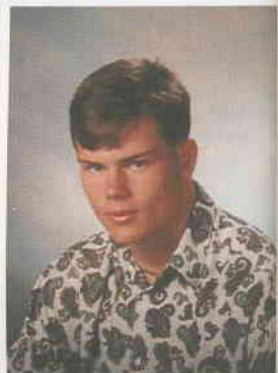

Others would change the daily structure.

"I think I would want to add another class, without lengthening the day. We could have seven classes, with each being about forty-five minutes long. That way students would have to choose more electives," said Senior Bekah Serrine.

"Instead of taking an hour and a half for lunch each day, I think we should have an hour of open campus. This way we could choose where we want to eat and be able to eat with our friends," said Senior Jenny Camburn.

Perhaps some of these improvements could be a reality someday.

Matthew Ernst
LCC
Ronald Fender
NIT
Sharissa Fitzpatrick
LCC
Brett Foland
Military

Emma French
Work
Heidi Fullhart
Work
Angela Garza
Ferris
Peter Gehoski
LCC

Carly George
Olivet
Elizabeth Giesecke
College
Mark Gifford
LCC
Nicole Goodman
WMU

