Plain Or Fancy

Style Dilemma

By Sharissa Fitzpatrick

McDonalds or Olive Garden?
Volkswagon or BMW? No hairspray or hairspray? Plain or fancy? Personal tastes seem to vary.

"I like fast food when I'm with my friends because I can spill things, yell and be immature," said Emma French.

"I like to go to fancy restaurants when I go on a date. It's more romantic," said Erinn Rumzek.

Hairstyles also indicate preferences.

"I usually let my hair be the way it wants. My hair is really straight and it doesn't like to be curly," said Kelly Jones.

"I like my hair short, shaved, multi-colored, dead, dry, hard, and knotted," added Emma French.

Having a car is very important in a teenagers life, but the question is what style.

"It doesn't really matter what kind of car I drive, but I prefer plain," said Tonia Durbin.

"I would prefer something plain and outdoorsey like a Jeep," said Jody Dudash.

"A Lincoln Continental or something elegant like that but definitely something made in the USA would be my choice," said Andy Myers

"I prefer a fancy 1968 Camaro," said Scott Remus.

From food to cars, everyone can express their own style.
