

SENIORS MAKE A NEW START

"What are you going to do when you graduate?" is a question asked to students all through high school by teachers, counselors, and even their family.

Senior Adam Harris is attending the winter term at L.C.C. to study drafting.

"Before college I'm working at Cedar Point to save money, and during college I'll work at K-Mart," added Harris.

"I already work, and I'm going to quit when I start Douglas J. cosmetology school," said Jessica Denovich.

"First I am going to Alaska for a little getaway, then I plan to party real hard all summer," said Carrie Sherwood.

Sherwood is also planning on going to the east coast to be a nanny.

College will come later for senior Heather Pattison since she will be going into the Air Force for four years. She then plans to study Law Enforcement/Administration.

"I have already taken and passed my tests!" says Pattison.

Whether it be going to school after graduation, or taking a break from school to party, the class of 1993 hopes for a promising future.

Karen McCrumb

Visual art and photojournalism is what senior Mark Welsh will study when he attends Western State College of Colorado in the fall.

Sara Roberts

Rachel Robertson

Melissa Rose

Carrie Rosekrans

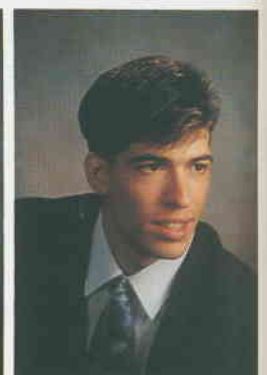

Sara Russell

John Rustad

Angela Ryan

David Saxton

Aaron Schafer

Joseph Schaub

Katina Schaub

Kari Schneider

