T-SHIRTS BOAST ABOUT TRAVEL

"Hey I've been there! When were you there?"

Wearing a T-shirt from a place you have visited can be a good way to start a conversation.

"I have a T-shirt from Yellow Stone National Park and everytime I wear it someone always comes up to me and asks if I've been there. Then we start talking about it," said Senior Holly DeRosia.

Sometimes you can actually find out a lot about a person just by asking about their T-shirt location.

Senior Ken Bentley said, "The majority of my T-shirts come from Missouri where I go for Basic Training."

T-shirts can often mean more than just something to wear.

"My favorite T-shirt is from Kentucky, I have good memories about getting it," said Senior Lisa Thelen.

If you wonder if they have actually been to that T-shirt location, just ask. It could be the start of a great conversation.
