

HAVING GOALS

Senior Mandy Becker wants to have a good job in a advertising company with a nice family and money.

Photo By) Fitch

FUTURE DREAMS

Senior Adam Shank wants to be the head of his own landfill company.

Photo By) Casie Decker

What's in store for your future? Do you know where you're going to be in 20 years? Most people have a tough time figuring out what they are doing next week, let alone in 20 years.

Many hope to be as far away from St. Johns as possible.

"I hope to be living in England teaching American Literature in 20 years." said Senior Eric Russell

"I hope to be living in a large city apartment in Amsterdam and owning my own coffee shop." said Senior Jeremy Kirkbride.

Good jobs are always in the future goals.

"I'll be on the Board of Directors for a major company."

said Senior Allie Sturburgh.

"I'll be working as a journalist for a magazine such as the Rolling Stones," said Senior Ben Ernst.

Families are in the future for some but not for others.

"If I do have a family I will have a loving husband and no kids," said Senior Barb Wilkins.

"I want a son and a daughter," said Senior Ross Thelen.

"I want six kids like the Brandy Bunch," said Senior Rick Willard.

"I want to be married to someone rich and have a couple of kids," said Senior Kelly Moore.

It's really difficult to predict the future, especially twenty years ahead but it's fun to try.

Kari Baker

Randy Neller

Brock Nobach

Rachel Nobis

Candice Norris

Carrie O'Boyle

Christina Oakwood

John Olin

William Ommen Jr.