

Sleeping the night away

Having a full schedule every-day, Senior Dawn Chamberlain finds it hard to find any time to sleep. "After my job, and the time spent with my friends, I hardly have any room for sleep," said Chamberlain.

Photo by Denise Dietrich

////////////////////. If you are like some students, sleep is the most important part of your life. Whether it be a cat nap during class, a few hours of shut eye after school, or endless hours of deep comatose sleep on the weekend, you thrive on it, and depend on it for basic survival. "I love to sleep," said Senior Erik "Bear" Mitchell, "It is so good that I wish I could be awake to enjoy it." On the other hand, there are some students who never seem to get any sleep. With the hectic schedule of everyday student life, balancing school, work, sports, and other extracurricular activities, there simply are not enough hours in the day to seemingly waste them on sleep. "Between my job, my girlfriend, and my schoolwork, sleep is almost non-existent for me," said Senior Morgan Decker. No matter if they get a lot of sleep, or hardly any at all, most students agree that sleep is a very important issue in their lives.

By Jay Sternburgh

Ryan Huguelet
Spring Hulliberger
Corey Hyler
Emily Irish

Cory Johnson
Wendy Johnson
Janelle Jorae
Russell Kalso

